The district's annual Wellness Report Card, which typically is released in November, reviews nutrition and physical activity education within Williamstown Independent School. The report notes initiatives and goals that aim to improve cafeteria offerings, provide more opportunities for students to try fresh fruits and vegetables, increase Farm to School efforts, and encourage more physical activity in schools.

The community is invited to share feedback and submit suggestions, and the final report will go to the school board for approval in January 2019.

With the passage of SB 172 in 2005, we are currently seeking public comments regarding the nutrition report card for the 2017 – 2018 School Year that is published on the Food Service website.
